

Shirley's trip - sophie bacon

Oh harold I'd really like to take the grandbabies on a fun road trip adventure

Now shirley are you sure that's a good idea. I don't want you to be distracted with navigation and the babies.

Harold, you're so silly! I believe in myself and so should you. Also the kids at the library showed me a navigation app called roadtripper.

Well I must say Shirley that does sound perfect. Don't forget to ask your daughter about her schedule.

Shirley I can't have my kids gone all day, lost on some adventure. I think this is ill planned.

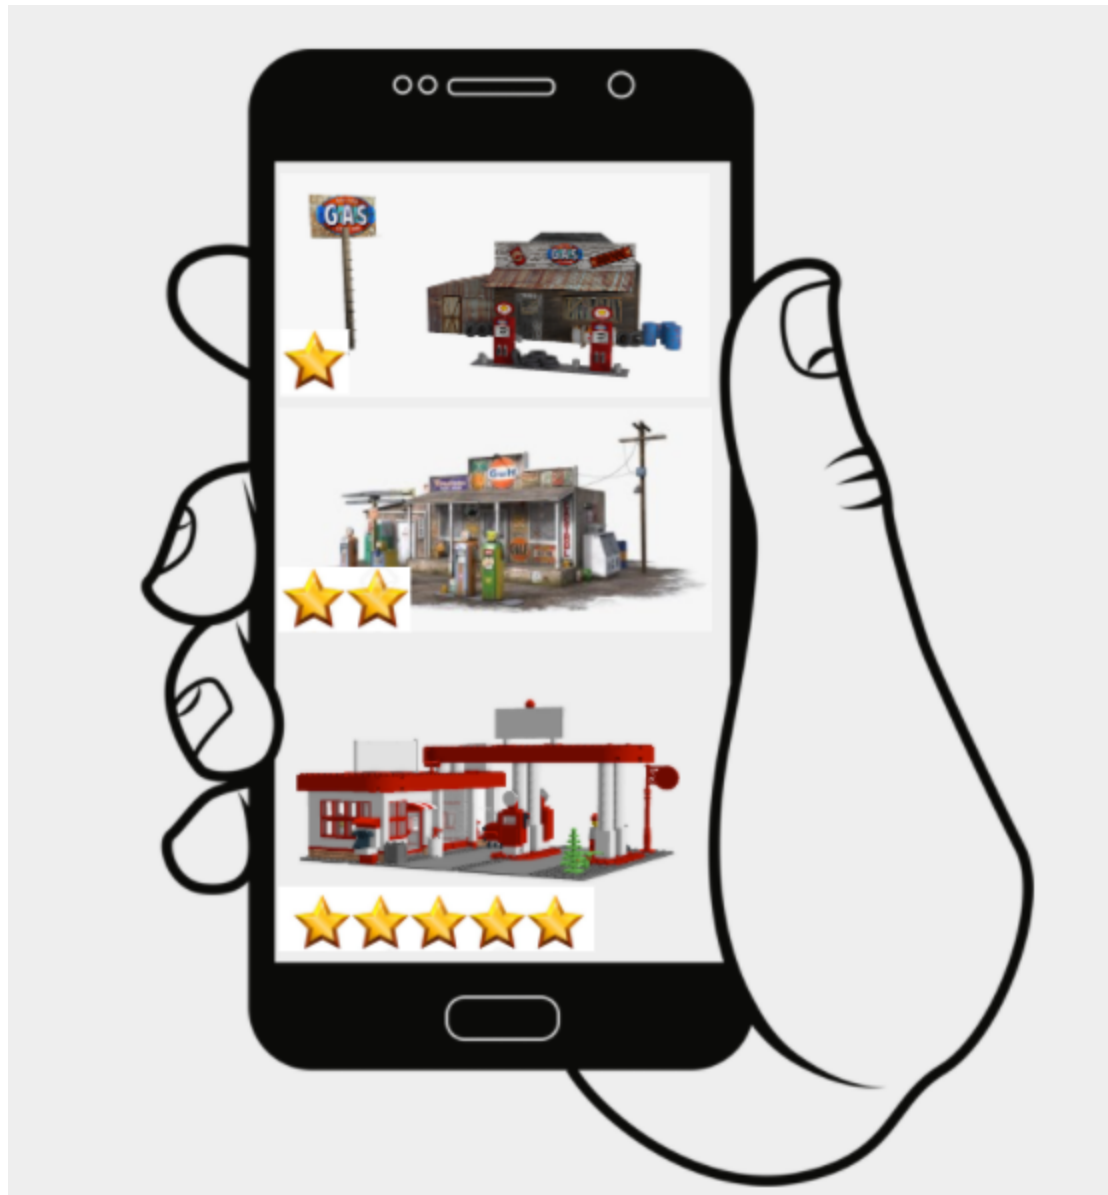

That is where you're wrong my dear, with roadtripper I'm an unstoppable fun granny. I can calculate the fastest and most fun routes and have them done in a specific amount of time.

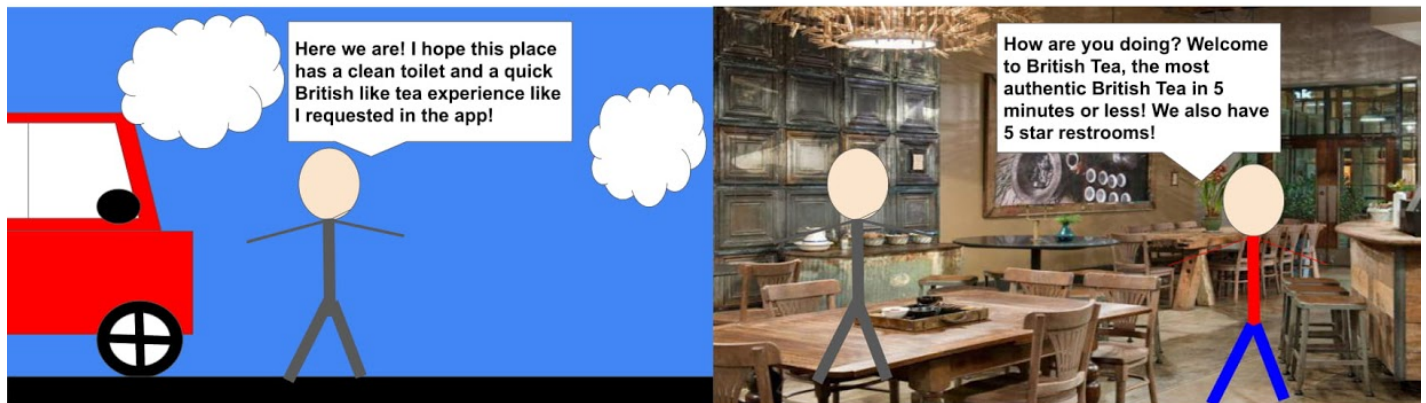

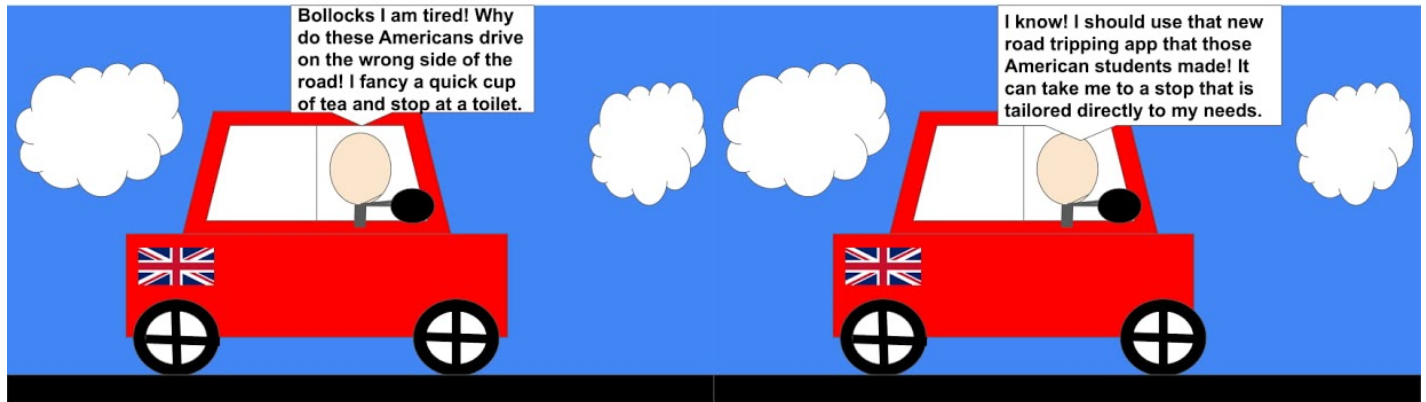

We love our grandma and RoadTripper! This has been the most fun and easily navigable road trip!

Thank God we found this place. It's so nice too I think I'll leave a review on the road trip helper.

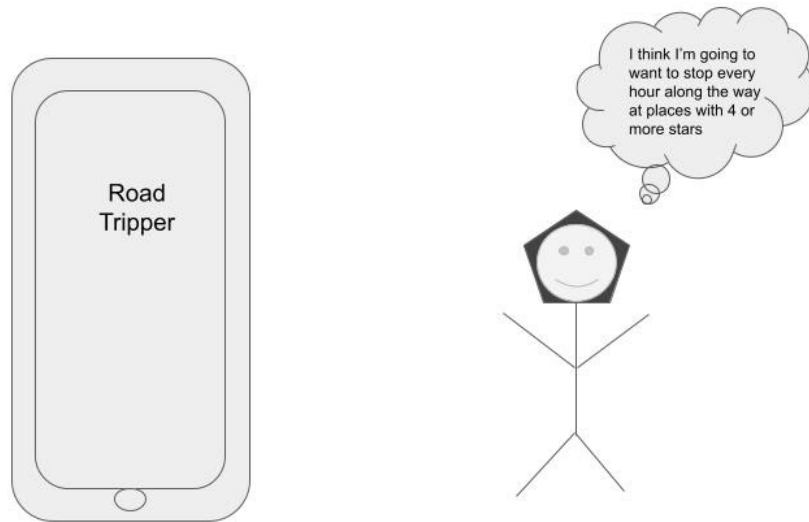

Carly's Trip by Lindsey Bonk

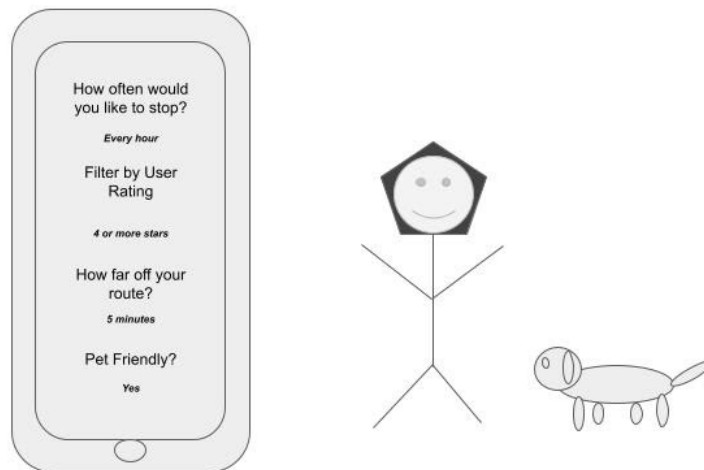

Carly, 19, is a student at the University of South Carolina. She's been home for a few weeks visiting her family in Denver, and now it's time to head back to school. It's about a 24 hour drive, and she likes to split it up over 2 days. She begins planning places to stop and tries to find places that will be safe as she is traveling alone.

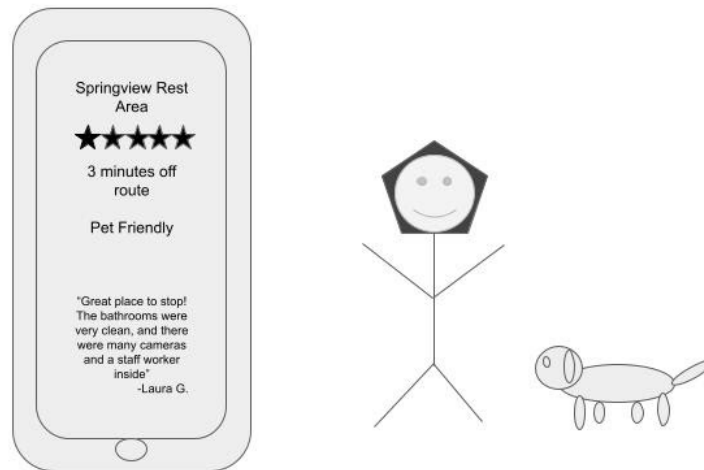

Carly flashes back to her drive back home for Thanksgiving last year. She stopped at a rest area to use the bathroom, and a man followed her out of the rest area and proceeded to ask her where she was headed and if she was alone. Carly felt extremely unsafe and did not want to repeat this incident.

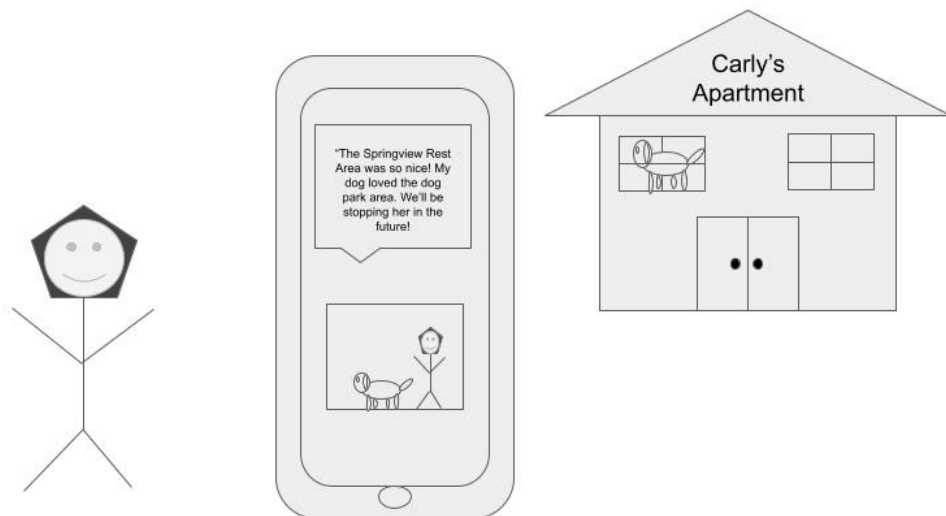

This trip, Carly is going to use the Road Tripper app to find places to stop ahead of time.

Carly fills in the information on the app so that she can plan out her stops on her route before she leaves! She also decides to bring her dog Reggie with her back to school, so she needs stops that are pet friendly.

Road Tripper gives Carly a list of stops that match her criteria that she can look through and choose from. She can also read review from other app users!

Carly arrives safely at her apartment in Columbia, South Carolina. She then leaves reviews on Road Tripper and posts a picture of her and her dog at the rest area she stopped at. Other users can like and comment on this picture, which Carly loves because she's very active on social media.
